Save Water in September

Make the Labor Day weekend a three-day water holiday to the Save Our Water Committee urged as the water-short area moves into "Critical September."

"Water use during the coming month will continue to mount unless everyone cuts down on watering lawns and gardens," M. J. Shelton, chairman of the Save Our Water Committee, said in announcing the committee's plans to bring water use down to at least last September's level.

If everyone will make a real effort to use the least amount of water possible on Saturday, Sunday and Labor Day, which are the first three days in September, Shelton pointed out, a good start will have been made in saving water for the month.

Square Dance Beginners' Class

Circle 8 Square Dance Club, which meets in the Spring Valley Community Center every Friday night, is starting a class for beginners on September 21. The class will meet the first and third Fridays at 8 p. m.

Members of the new class will be associate members of the club, eligible for club membership upon completion of the course.

Roy Close is the instructor and caller. Mr. Close is affectionately known as granddaddy of square dancing in the Southland. Circle 8 Club is considered the best in the County.

DATES CLAIMED

September 2—Ham dinner, Post 2022 V. F. W. hall, Imperial at Lincoln, 2 to 6 p. m.

September 7—Ice cream social, Friendship Hall, 6 p. m.

September 14 and 15—Rummage sale, San Miguel Chapter, O. E. S., 7896 Broadway.

September 29—Bake sale, Forward Club Juniors, Plaza, 9:30 a. m.

Dr. Gigliotti Again Honored

Recently elected national commander of the Regular Veterans Association, Dr. Frank B. Gigliotti, 3777 Gigliotti Dr., was honored recently by ceremonies conducted at the Capitol in Washington by Rep. Henry Latham R-N. Y.

An American flag, flown from the pole atop the Capitol, later was presented to Gigliotti. Latham is a member of the Regular Veterans, a nationwide association of ex-servicemen.

Attending the ceremony was Steven Verde, Latham's executive assistant who served with Gigliotti in World War I. Verde is secretary of the Regular Veterans Association national defense committee.

In a brief speech Gigliotti recalled he came to this country from Italy at the age of 4 and for years had hoped that "some day the American flag would be flown from the Capitol in my honor."

Majorie Lawrence, dramatic soprano whose valiant battle against polio has amazed the musical world, will sing arias from "Valkyrie" and "Tristan and Isolde" at next Tuesday evening's (September 4) concert by the San Diego Symphony Orchestra in Balboa Bowl at 8:30 p. m.

The orchestra will be under the direction of Fabien Sevitzky. This is the last concert of the 1951 season of Midsummer Night Symphonies.

The orchestra will play the overture to the opera "Zampa," the third and fourth movements of Kalinnikov's Symphony No. 1, Deema's Taylor's "Restoration Suite," and Respighi's "Pines of Rome."

Miss Lawrence, Australian-born and internationally famous, has not allowed the polio that struck her some years ago to interfere with her career. She has continued in opera and concert, on radio and television, and recently has been working in Hollywood, where her life story is being filmed.

A. F. Sonka Makes Flying Trip to 11 Foreign Countries

A. F. Sonka returned Saturday from a flying trip to Europe. He left here June 29, flying to San Francisco, where he took a plane for New York, then boarding a plane of the Scandinavian Airlines. His actual flying time was less than 30 hours.

Landing at the airport near Glasgow, Scotland, he made that city his headquarters while in the British Isles.

He visited all the principal cities in Scotland, England and Ireland before going to Paris. In Ireland, he said, everything is really green, the street cars, lampposts and everything.

From Paris he visited the principal cities of France, Belgium, Holland, West Germany, Austria, Switzerland and Italy.

His trip in Europe covered 5,000 miles, and saw devastated areas which had not been rebuilt, and also some very beautiful architecture.

Speaking of the food, he said there appeared to be sufficient quantities, and everything was good, and well prepared.

The people of all the countries were very friendly, and when they found he was from the United States they did their utmost to make him comfortable and show him the sights.

One subject seemed to be taboo among all the common people of Europe, Mr. Sonka noted, and that was the subject of war. Whenever it was mentioned they would invariably change the subject to something more pleasant. He is convinced that the common people do not want war, and if it were left to them to decide there would be no more wars.

Leaving Nice, France, on the United Airlines he flew over Spain and Portugal, landing in the Azores, where the plane refueled for the trip to New York.

He visited 12 countries and flew over two others in 60 days' time, and did a good job of visiting and sightseeing at each stop, he made. He enjoyed his flying visit to the Old World immensely, and now feels that his education has been rounded out by this contact with the peoples of those war-ridden countries.

Orientation Day at Helix Sept. 7

Helix High School will hold its first annual orientation day on Friday, September 7 from 1:00 to 3:30 p. m. All new students and entering freshmen are asked to be present for this very important meeting.

New students and freshmen will meet their teachers and participate in a school-wide tour. An orientation assembly designed to acquaint the new students with the organization of the school will also be part of the day's activities.

A special bus schedule will be in effect during the day. Each freshman and each new student will receive a letter with detailed information and bus schedule (if the student has already registered) during the last of August.

The planning of the day's activities is under the jurisdiction of the Student Body Commission. The emphasis for the first week is on welcoming the freshmen. A committee of 100 seniors will aid the commission in making this orientation day a real success.

First Rain of Season Soaks Up Everything

The first rain of the season came early Tuesday morning and caught San Diego County unprepared.

New roofs, and some old ones, poured by the long dry spell, failed to shed water, with the result that many places of business suffered considerable water damage.

All the low places in the streets filled with water, and the usual puddle appeared on main street at the Broadway crosswalk.

Stanley Blake, candidate for street commissioner, when and if Lemon Grove ever incorporates, cleaned the drain so that the water could run off.

The big wind predicted for Tuesday night failed to materialize. Everybody batted down and waited for it to come, but it shifted and blew itself out before reaching Southern San Diego County.

Kiwanians Hear About India

Myron Insko, San Diego manager of the Goodwill Industries, told the La Mesa and Lemon Grove Kiwanians at an inter-club meeting at Community Center Wednesday noon, a little of the inside workings of the problems of India.

Mr. Insko spent 11 years in that country, and became quite familiar with the affairs of the Indians during the British rule.

He says he does not blame Nehru very much for the premier's present attitude toward the Japanese treaty. It is prompted more by fear of Russia than any desire to block the treaty, he said.

The Indians used to blame all their ills on the British, according to Mr. Insko, and he recently had a letter from an Indian friend who expressed the desire for the return of the British, as they had nobody to blame but themselves for their troubles today.

The average Indian, both Hindu and Mohammedan, Mr. Insko said, is not concerned much about government. All he bothers about is getting something to eat.

The speaker does not think there is much chance of the Indians improving their conditions, no matter who

German Youths to Learn About U.S. Living in Rural Homes

By Anne M. Mattingly
WNU Washington Bureau

"The people are so nice—and it's wonderful to be able to say what ever you want to in America. I'm so happy to be here." This statement by 16-year-old Christal Mohr, one of the 74 German teenagers who arrived in this country recently to study our agricultural methods under a joint national grange and state department program, accurately represents the collective sentiments of the group as they looked for the first time into the American way of life.

These youngsters are to be sent to grange homes throughout the country, a large number going to Washington, Virginia, and Ohio. There they will become "members" of the family, will help on the farms, and will attend the local schools. The homes have all been offered, and in most cases the boys and girls were given a choice of the type of farm on which they wanted to live. The financing while here will be done completely by the grange families in return for the farm work that the youths do.

A succession of ups and downs in the theatre led him to Hollywood; he made his first picture at Columbia, and his latest and probably his biggest success is that studio's "The Whistle at Eaton Falls". He has worked steadily toward stardom for ten years; "Home of the Brave", "White Tower", and "Colt 45" gave him fine roles.

Lack of Positive Platform Has Defeated the GOP

By Wright A. Patterson

OVER THE YEARS I have voted with but rare exceptions the Republican ticket.

One such exception was in the contest between Harding and Cox. As a protest against the unfair methods of the aid guard senators in nominating Harding, I voted for Cox. The old guard was unfair, un-American and un-Republican.

In the campaign between Landon and Roosevelt for a second term, I went along with Landon, despite his endorsement of New Deal policies, tempered only by his insistence he could do a better job with them. By not having a Republican program, or a Landon program, but by accepting the Roosevelt program, Landon lost.

If they must have the New Deal, the voters prefer to leave it in the hands of the originator.

In his campaign against a third term for Roosevelt, Willkie used as a subject for a campaign address "I could do it better," referring to New Deal policy.

He deserved to lose, because he was no Republican. He was a candidate who gained the Republican nomination by unfair methods. Willkie flopped as an advocate of New Deal policies on the Republican ticket and deserved his fate at the polls.

Dewey, in his first campaign, came nearer supporting New Deal policies than anything he or his party proposed at their own. When given his second chance, he talked only of a sensible and meaningful term, "unity," when people were asking for a

Although this program of the state department and the national grange is one of exchange, it represents for the most part an opportunity for foreigners to see not only our agricultural methods but also to study our national philosophy and the manner in which we live. It is hoped that after a year in this country, the students will inject into their native Germany upon their return, a good deal of what they have absorbed. Other aims of the program include youth leadership, training, and agricultural progress.

This group of 74 represents only a small part of the entire program. There will be 430 German teenagers sent to study here this year, but the total from Germany during the year, including all age groups, will be almost 3000. This, in turn, is still only a part of the "Campaign of Truth" program inaugurated by President Truman last year, which brought 10,000 persons from 55 countries to the United States to live, work, and study.

Since only about one in ten of the group of 74 which arrived recently can speak English, it might be assumed that language would be a great barrier to their American education. However, there was a girl in a similar group last year who, within a month, had learned English well enough to compete with her fellow pupils on their own terms. Officials of the state department and the grange praised the teachers in our schools to whom fell the task of educating these students. The extra time spent with them and the understanding given them did much to aid the rapid adjustment of the youngsters.

Upon their arrival in New York, this latest and first such group of German teenagers were whisked down to Washington where they, in a group, spent part of their second day in this country visiting home to their families to let them know of their safe arrival and to tell of their first impressions.

While in Washington, they met Herschel Newson, master of the national grange, who welcomed them to this country and added that he hoped the Americans with whom they came in contact would learn as much about Germany as the students did about America—that in order to be successful, the program had to be reciprocal.

The group also met Harold Howland, of the exchange of persons division of the state department, who summed up the whole purpose of the program with his question from Charles Lamb: "How I hate that person!" Lamb is reported to have said, "Why, do you know him?" someone asked. "Of course not," replied Lamb, "if I knew him I wouldn't hate him."

If, through the immediate sphere of the study of agriculture, and the greater and broader one of human relations, this program can continue to aid in the cause of international understanding, it will be a great boon not only to this country, but to the entire world. If knowledge and understanding are present, there is less chance of hatred.

statement of national policies. The Republican party offered them no platform, leaving it up to the candidates to propose their own platforms.

The candidates had no platforms, or at least could not enunciate them. So again the Republicans failed for lack of a constructive party platform, a statement of principles for which the voters were so avidly waiting.

To return a bit farther back to the campaign between Roosevelt for his first term and Herbert Hoover for re-election, that campaign for the Republicans was conducted by the Republican old guard senators, such as Jim Watson, Reed Smoot, George Moses, and others.

They had not been able to use Hoover and preferred to deal with a Democrat, rather than Hoover with a second term. They said so, and admitted that their interest in the campaign was only re-election of themselves. They deliberately worked against Herbert Hoover.

They succeeded in defeating both Hoover and themselves.

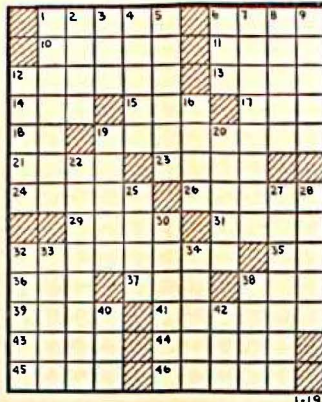

In the election for membership in the 80th congress, an off year, the Republicans secured a majority in both houses. They could not undo much that had been done, but they could refuse appropriations to pay the vast army of bureaucrats that was a factor in the Democratic successes.

They did not do that. Expecting a Republican president at the next election, they wanted the jobs continued to themselves. They might be filled by Republicans. Visions of future pa-

PERFECT DAY

By Sallydale Wimbrow

EARLY FALL bristled the air. The lawn surrounding the little church was caked with brown fallen leaves and in the sky, a bright sun darted behind a cloud.

"Such a perfect day," Nell thought. "Everything is on its good behavior for Steve and Mary."

She relaxed her hands in her lap and folded her feet. The organist softly began playing the pre-wedding melody. An unexpected tear started down Nell's cheek.

"That's right," she told herself. "Go ahead and cry. Make a fool of yourself and bawl like a baby. Forget about your plan to seem calm."

"The church looks lovely. Isn't it beautiful?" someone whispered. "Everything is so perfect."

"Yes," Nell thought. "Lovely, the white flowers, the ferns, everything perfect. I mustn't be sad. I should be happy for Steve, for this is what he wants. It seems so sudden though... his getting married. Just yesterday he was only a boy interested in boats, automobile engines, camping out in the woods for weekends. Is he ready for a wife, a family? Oh, my Steve, I love you. But I would not hold you back. Not if this is your happiness. You have chosen Mary and she is lovely. I would not fight to keep you for myself, though I can't imagine what my life will be now, without you."

The opening strains of the wedding march sounded. People stood. There was the rustle of new dresses, the sound of feet shuffling on the floor. Nell felt stiff. She pulled herself up, put one hand on the back of the pew before her. There was Steve, standing by the altar, his face slightly flushed, looking toward the back of the church. His eyes were bright waiting for Mary. Nell remembered seeing that brightness in his eyes so many times before. She remembered how she had watched him often when he was only a small boy, playing with skates and toy pistols. As he grew, so did her love for him.

"Only yesterday," Nell thought. "You were mine. Now you will never be mine again. Mary will hear your questions, solve your problems, be there when you need help. She is your life now. I have given you all I have to give. I only hope you will remember me, Steve, remember me with a smile. I will always love you and cherish the happiness you gave to me."

MARY was coming down the aisle. She seemed surrounded by a faint glow. Nell trembled slightly at the sight of the admiring congregation. Mary was indeed a vision. By the altar, Steve was leaning forward, tense. There was that eager expression on his face that Nell remembered so well.

"The picnic!" she thought. "You took me by the river for a picnic—and we carried your old portable phonograph. You played your favorite records—laughed at me trying to learn about live. That eager alive look you have now. We were so happy Steve. You kissed my cheek and told me I was your girl—There would never be another girl for you. That's what you said, Steve—remember?"

Now the couple stood together, facing the altar. Nell heard the words that tied Steve and Mary together for a lifetime, unable to control a soft sob. "Mary, Mary—make him happy. It's up to you now."

Then it was over. The organ sounded again and Nell watched the couple turn, start for the door, laughing. Steve clasped Mary's hand and they brushed by Nell. "He doesn't even see me!" Nell thought. "He didn't even look."

Outside a photographer was taking pictures. Nell lifted her chin, tried a bright smile. She walked up to Steve who was standing alone while Mary posed for her picture.

"Darling," she whispered. "It was perfect. I am so happy."

He leaned and kissed her. "Thank you, sweetheart," he said. "He has stood about her waist and he hugged her."

"I'm rather happy myself," he said and then he looked deep in her eyes. "I guess it's the most perfect day in my life, Mom."

Take to the Outdoors for a Basket Picnic (See Recipes Below)

Picnic in a Basket

WITH ONLY a short time remaining for the picnic season, plan one last, memorable picnic before the season is over. A simply prepared menu with family favorites, with the added plus of good eating and carrying ease will bring cheers from everyone including mother and dad.

You've probably had picnics already which require outdoor cooking, and those were wonderful. Then, too, you've probably had the sandwich, potato salad and deviled egg kind. Now you're ready for something that's different. What about a skillet baked chicken with corn bread dressing. It's a sure hit with all the family.

Use young chicken for frying and cut them into serving pieces for picnic style eating. Place a few pieces of the chicken in a paper bag with pancake ready mix to apply a light coating and thus prevent the absorption of grease from the frying. You'll have chicken that retains a crisp and tempting texture. Heat fat in a heavy skillet or chicken fryer, having fat 1/2-inch deep and brown each piece carefully, using kitchen tongs to prevent from piercing the chicken while turning.

Prepare the dressing while the chicken browns, using cooked giblets for extra flavor. Place the dressing in the skillet you have used for browning chicken, leaving only enough grease in it to coat bottom and sides of skillet. Top the dressing with chicken pieces, cover and bake. Then wrap the skillet in several layers of newspaper to keep hot while you go to the picnic spot.

Here are exact recipes for preparing the chicken and dressing:

Golden Corn Bread

(Makes 1 8-inch square)

- 1 cup enriched yellow corn meal
- 1 cup sifted enriched flour
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 4 teaspoons baking powder
- 1 egg
- 1 cup milk
- 1/2 cup shortening, soft

Sift together dry ingredients in medium-sized bowl. Add egg, milk and shortening. Beat with rotary egg beater until smooth, about 1 minute. Do not overbeat. Bake in a greased 8-inch square pan or greased muffin pan in a hot (425°F.) oven for 20 to 25 minutes.

Fried Chicken

2 frying chickens, disjointed

- 1 cup pancake ready-mix
- 1 teaspoon salt

Cook giblets from the frying chicken in salted water to cover. Set aside to use for dressing. Roll chicken in ready-mix combined with salt and brown in chicken fryer or deep frying pan.

Corn Bread Dressing

- 1/2 cup butter
- 5 cups corn bread crumbs (made from corn bread)
- 1/2 cup diced celery
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- 1/2 teaspoon sage
- 1 egg, beaten
- 1/2 cup chicken broth

Cut giblets and butter in small pieces. Add to corn bread crumbs. Add all remaining ingredients and mix well with crumbs. Put dressing in deep skillet and lay fried chicken over top of dressing. Cover and cook in a moderate (350°F.) oven for 30 to 40 minutes or until chicken is tender. Remove cover during the last 10 minutes to crisp the crust on the chicken.

Crisp vegetable relishes are good accompaniments for fried chicken and corn bread dressing. When you wash and prepare these, put them directly into plastic bags so that you can take them directly from the refrigerator to put in a basket. Include a variety of raw vegetables to nibble with the chicken, such as crunchy carrot sticks, crisp celery fans, radishes and green onions, along with whole plump tomatoes that can be sliced when you're setting the picnic table.

FOR A REFRESHING picnic beverage, there's nothing as refreshing as well chilled lemonade placed in a thermos or insulated jug. If you don't have either of these, use a gallon glass jug or jar for it:

Picnic Lemonade

(Makes 1 Gallon)

Fill a gallon container with ice cubes or crushed ice. Pour over the ice 1/2 cup strained honey or 1/2 cup sugar, mixed with 1/2 cup lemon juice. Screw the top on tightly and place the jar in the picnic basket where it can serve as a "refrigerator". Surround with relishes and watermelon which you'll want to keep cool en-route to the picnic. By this time the ice will have melted to make the lemonade.

BRING ALONG plenty of soft, chewy cookies for youngsters and grownups alike.

They go nicely with watermelon or other fruits for a simple and well-balanced dessert. Like most oatmeal cookies, these are not only extra tasty but also nutritious:

Cookie Recipe

*Coconut Gumdrops Bars (Makes 16 bars)

- 1 cup sifted enriched flour
- 1/2 teaspoon soda
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup brown sugar
- 1/2 cup shortening, soft
- 1 egg
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
- 1/2 cup milk
- 1 cup quick rolled oats, uncooked
- 1 cup chopped gumdrops
- 1/2 cup grated coconut

Sift together flour, soda and salt into bowl. Add brown sugar, shortening, egg, vanilla and milk. Beat until smooth, about 2 minutes. Fold in rolled oats, gumdrops and about half of the coconut. Spread dough into greased 7x11-inch pan. Sprinkle with remaining coconut. Bake in a moderate (350°F.) oven for 25-30 minutes. Cool and cut into bars.

Baking powder biscuit is a fine topping for leftover meat pie, and it's even more delicious if you add some egg to the biscuit mix.

Sandwich cookies that go nicely for a snack—use thin ginger snaps put together with cream cheese to which some crystallized ginger is added.

Cut cold, boiled sweet potatoes into slices, dip in beaten egg, then fine crumbs. Fry in deep, hot fat until deep golden brown and serve with ham or chicken.

Q—Now then, where are we? A—A—I think we're all tied up and the heat is on me as usual. Also somebody is stealing the signals.

Q—Very well. Do you or do you not believe baseball players need protection by the United States Congress?

A—The way things are going there is no telling who will be called in next to help a player. I've seen everybody else called in from the bullpen to help me this week except a Congressman, and not they're waving for him.

Q—Do you consider baseball a business?

A—It has everything business has except the businessmen's $1.5 lunch.

Q—Would you call it a violation of the anti-trust laws?

A—No. It has to sell frankfurter at the same price as others.

Q—You misunderstand. I am not considering hot dogs in connection with baseball.

A—Baseball ain't baseball with out 'em, mister.

Q—Doesn't the reserve clause prevent a player from leaving his minors and bettering himself?

A—All I know is a pitcher don always better himself by getting out of the minors and joining the majors. Suppose he has to meet the majors the first week!

Q—But is it not an unfair practice to let one big-league club keep a good player on a farm team for years when he might well get a job with another club?

A—Yes and no.

Q—What do you mean yes and no?

A—This is a tight situation and I am mixing up fast stuff with my slow stuff.

Q—Do you not believe there should be a free labor market in baseball as anywhere else?

A—I get in and out of the box so often that if there was a free labor market I wouldn't even make the distance from the bullpen to the mound sometimes.

Q—But doesn't the very spirit of fair play call for a competitive market in which all talent can be used?

A—The last time I was called in to save a game, I pitched two balls before the manager, the coaches, the whole infield and the guys I didn't recognize were surrounding me and trying to save me. If that ain't free labor competition, what is?

Q—Do you believe something should be done about cartels?

A—No. If you get a cartel thing to do is lay off and let nature heal it.

Q—Do you think it is right to trade players like dumb oxen?

A—I object to that word "dumb". Some oxen in baseball are as smart as oxen anywhere.

Q—What is your opinion of Durocher?

A—Why drag Leo into this?

A—I think it's custom to drag Leo into anything. Answer the question.

A—I think if he had got Lara Day onto video 11 games ago the Giants would be out of the now.

Q—In your opinion is it fair to punish players for playing in Mexico, Cuba and South America?

A—When they play there it's punishment enough.

Q—Talent and ability are everything in the great American game. No game can be won without the qualities, can it?

A—Are you kidding? Didn't you hear about how Casey Stengel got that one from the White Sox last week with nothing but two thumb monkey wrench and a lot of confidence in rain?

LABOR DAY

This year's observance of organized labor's proud holiday may well mark a new departure from out-moded methods of labor thinking and a heartening progress in the field of sound labor leadership. Only last week, California's blunt Harry Lundberg, AFL executive, declared his organization has decided to end its two-year political alliance with the CIO, and added:

"This means a return to the simple policies of the AFL, which were established by Samuel Gompers, founder and first president. It also means the AFL will no longer give a blanket recommendation to any political party. We will, however, continue to endorse individuals regardless of party affiliations."

"We made a mistake, and we can see it now. We don't want to flounder around in politics. Basically we are members of trade unions and as such we should spend our time and energy in improving the conditions of our workers."

The very concept of a labor party in America—"labor" having interests distinct from the rest of the people—is an anachronism in this age. In our complex economy, "labor," in a very real sense, includes virtually all Americans. Brains, brawn, skill—the ability to direct and to carry out directions—production in the shop, the laboratory, the field, the research foundation, the domain of pure and applied science—all combine to give the whole people the good things of life we have in such abundance. It will be another good day for "labor"—for all Americans—if you been listening to the radio? and when the great CIO organization likewise sees fit to cease "floundering around in politics." The stake in sound government cannot be a "class" stake in this classless republic; it must be the common stake, the common goal, of all thinking citizens.

★ WHY NEWSPRINT IS SHORT

In its mission of keeping us abreast of knowledge, the Federal government is pouring out pamphlets and brochure from 241 U. S. printing plants. A curious legislator, Rep. George Meade of Michigan, reports the following titles gleaned from the mountainous output:

Mist Netting in Japan.
Interaction of Sex, Shape and Weight Genes in Watermelons.
The Fleas of North America.
Deer Mortality From Gunshot Wounds.
The Sponge Industry in Turkey.

Habits, Food and Economic Status of the Bank-Tailed Pigeon.
Estimating Muskrat Population by House Counts.
Fishery Resources of Micronesia.

How to Control Vagrant Cats.
Fish for Breakfast—And Why Not?

Rep. Meade thinks it a terrific waste of newsprint, time, labor and money getting out such stuff and expresses himself as "shocked."

Maybe we've become shock-proof. We just give up—and advise our readers to clip this list against the day when the government consumes all the newsprint and we shut down. They'll need something to read through the long winter evenings.

★ THE MAN WHO SOLD HOT DOGS

There was a man who lived by the side of the road and he sold hot dogs.

He had no radio.

He had trouble with his eyes, so he read no newspapers.

But he sold good hot dogs. He put signs up on the highway telling how good they were.

He stood on the side of the road and cried: "Buy a hot dog, mister!" And people bought.

He increased his meat and bun orders. He bought a bigger stove to take care of his trade. He finally got his son home from college to help him.

But then something happened. His son said: "Father, haven't you been listening to the radio? Haven't you been reading the newspapers? There's a big depression on. The European situation is terrible. The domestic situation is worse. Everything is going to pot."

Whereupon the father thought, "Well, my son's been to college; he reads the papers and he listens to the radio, and he ought to know." So the father cut down on his meat and bun orders, took down his advertising signs, and no longer bothered to stand out on the highway to sell his hot dogs. And his hot dog sales fell almost overnight.

"You're right, son," the father said to the boy. "We certainly are in the middle of a great depression."—George T. Trundle Jr.

CLEM WHITAKER, Jr.

The California State Chamber of Commerce, through its president, Adrian J. Falk, last week warned the State to be on guard against the latest scheme of California's perennial pension of promoter, George H. McLain.

"Approval of this wasteful and unwise (and add) program would cost the State an additional $111,000,000 a year," and could jeopardize State financing of essential services including schools and hospitals, Falk declared. "We need not criticize ourselves for lack of generosity in this category of aid," Falk added. "Aid to the aged in California is more liberal than in any other State in the Union. The maximum amount of Old Age Security has been increased five times since 1940 to meet increased costs of living."

McLain's present measure was qualified as a petition to the Legislature with 200,558 signatures in October, 1950. Under the law, the Legislature had the option of adopting the measure or not within the first 40 days of the past session. At the conclusion of the 40 days, April 5, 1951, the measure was automatically referred to the next State ballot as the Legislature refused to consider it. Unless a special election is called in the meantime, the proposal will be on the November, 1952, ballot.

"In addition to its staggering cost of operation," Falk stated, "The Chamber study revealed the further liberalized provisions of the (McLain) program would open the door to an estimated 130,000 additional cases."

In brief, here's the latest McLain initiative: Besides a pension of $75 a month (minimum), the plan calls for free medical and dental services to old age pensioners. Ambulance service, drugs and medicines, eye glasses, the hospital care, hearing aids and artificial limbs are numbered among other benefits. Both pension administration and cost would be shifted entirely from counties to the State. Increases in pensions above $75 monthly are provided should the cost of living go up and funeral allowances of $150 are included.

The presently proposed McLain plan, according to the California

State Taxpayers Association, goes substantially beyond the scheme promoted in 1948 which was repealed by the electorate in 1948 when 50 of the State's 58 counties combined to take 1948's Proposition 4 off the State ballot books by an overwhelming majority of 408,155 votes.

The new measure, however, unlike the former plan, ignores and to the blind.

(McLain's 1948 measure, part of a long and crowded ballot, passed by a bare margin of 37,292 votes.

Currently, while promoting support for his latest pension plan, McLain reportedly is touring the State waging war on all Chambers of Commerce, State and local, threatening to circulate an initiative for the ballot which would prohibit city and county donations to support of Chambers of Commerce.

FROM THE NEWS CIRCUIT
JAMES DORRIS

How is Mr. Average Californian faring during the present period of inflation?

That depends, of course, on how average Mr. Average is. For every individual, there is an individual answer.

Everyone knows that people living on fixed incomes—owners of rental property, pensioners and holders of annuities—fare very badly when the cost of all of life's necessities begin to soar. But for many a wage earner, income has more than kept pace with prices. Many economists point out that one reason so few effective steps have been taken to curb inflation is that a great many people, though they recognize it as an evil of sorts in the overall scheme of things, believe that they personally have benefited.

But to return to Mr. Average: recently the California Taxpayers' Association set its statisticians to work to find out if he is better or worse off than he was a decade ago. Here is what he found:

In 1941, when 7,097,000 people lived here, their total income was $7,044,000,000. That was an average of $992 per person.

In 1949 (the last year for which full data is available) California's population had increased to 10,041,800, and total income to $17,005,000,000. That income averages $1,700 per person—a huge increase over 1941 income.

Meantime, however, inflation had increased the cost of living by 60.7 percent, reducing the $1,700 per capita income of 1949 to a buying power of only $1,058. Even so, that is greater than the 1941 figure. For the average Californian, at least, inflation appears to have been a boon rather than a bogey.

But the statisticians had one more adjustment to make. In these days of high taxes for everyone, it isn't the theoretical amount of one's wages that counts, it's take-home pay.

In 1941, after taxes, per capita income in California was $840—

$992 less average per capita taxes of $152.

In 1949, average per capita taxes had increased to $455. Thus, the 1949 per capita income of $1,700 was $1,245 after taxes. Taking into account again the inflated cost of living, the buying power of that income, after taxes, became only $775—or nearly 8 per cent less than average earnings after taxes, of a decade ago.

Mr. Average Californian isn't so well off after all. And if for some people, inflation has proved to be a boon, high taxes are a bogey for everyone.

As to what extent inflation is responsible for high taxes, there are as many opinions as there are economists. Those who feel that inflation hasn't hurt them, however, won't be cheered by the current reports from Washington that the tax experts seem pretty much agreed that a dandy way to combat inflation is to increase taxes still more.

GEORGE LESTER VOGLER, Jr.

George Lester Vogler Jr., 32, accountant for the Bank of America main branch and World War II pilot, died late Friday in a San Diego hospital after a long illness.

Mr. Vogler, who resided at 3455 Valley View Lane, has been an employee of the bank since 1939. He was born in Kimball, Neb. In 1942 he enlisted in the Army Air Corps and was commissioned a captain.

On his 31st mission over Germany as a B-17 pilot, he was shot down and made a war prisoner at Barth, October 7, 1944. The Russians freed him in May, 1945. Mr. Vogler held the Air Medal and several Oak Leaf clusters and the Purple Heart.

Memorial services were held Wednesday at Bonham Bros. Mortuary. Interment was in Ft. Rosecrans National Cemetery.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs.

Traffic over the Labor Day week end will be heavier and the highway hazards greater than any other week end this summer, the California Patrol predicted today.

While all available Patrolmen will be on duty over the holiday, the three-day period may record the season's largest toll of death and injury unless all drivers accept personal responsibility for their own safety, the Patrol declared.

During the Labor Day holiday last year 36 persons were killed and 623 were injured on the rural highways alone, Commissioner Clifford E. Peterson said. "We hope to keep well below that figure this year."

H. S. Season Opens Tomorrow

The 1951 high school football season opens tomorrow (Friday) night when the All-Los Angeles team meets the All-Southern California squad at Balboa Stadium at 8:15 p. m. in the third Breitbard Foundation prep football classic.

Although the Los Angeles team has won the two previous games, Southern California hopes are high, reports Coach Neidermeyer. The club has looked impressive in its drills and with such stars as Charlie Powell in the lineup the Los Angeles team is sure to have a tough battle on its hands from the locals.

A capacity crowd of 22,000 fans is expected and the charity game should be a tremendous success in more ways than one.

Jack Hanna Nine in Legion Playoffs

The La Mesa Jack Hanna Pontiac Club, champions of the Grossmont Junior Baseball District, enters the Junior American Legion baseball playoffs this week with the goal of winding up in the finals against the San Diego Boys' Club in Lane Field, September 9.

Today, Thursday, the Jack Hannans faced National City at Grossmont Field. The game, originally scheduled for Tuesday, was postponed until today because of rain. They meet the same opponents in National City again on Saturday. If Jack Hannans triumph in this series they will have earned the berth in the Lane Field finals.

Scheduled to face National City on the hill is Lemon Grove's Fred Toole, owner of four league wins, and two one-hitters.

Grading System

social adjustment and subject the atmosphere of the Faith of the Board and parents and taxpayers in the audience agreed that there was still need for revision. The result of the work done at the Board meeting was this: reports for grades 4, 5, 6, 7, and 8 will have two columns for the grade in subject matter—the second column will indicate effort put forth, ie "plus" mark indicating strength, "check" mark for normal achievement, and "minus" sign indicating weakness. All social adjustment comments will be placed on a sheet to be used in conjunction with a conference between the parent and teacher. There is to be one such conference with each parent.

The Board is now working on minimum requirements for each grade, which must be met before a student will be passed to the succeeding grade. These requirements will probably be ready for approval by the next meeting of the Board.

As a resident of this county who likes to be proud of my Community, County, and Country I was very grateful to observe that the tendency to stress social adjustment, regardless of whether the student learned facts and figures which they'll need later, was rejected. The August 15th meeting seemed permeated with the atmosphere of the Faith of our Fathers who Founded this Country who believed in homes, y. honor, and credit where credit is due. The only incident which disturbed this atmosphere was when Dr. Hardesty, County Superintendent of Schools, read a resolution which had been placed in the hands of the Board to be read at this meeting. Dr. Hardesty has a strong, well modulated voice, easily heard on his dictation, enunciation and pronunciation are above criticism, yet he read this resolution so rapidly, and it came out so garbled that few persons present could determine the thought expressed, therefore I shall enclose it in this letter.

Resolution

Whereas, through recommendations of our Coordinators, we are being urged to adopt policies and a system of reports that stifle all individual in effort in making progress, therefore be it resolved, that we, the members of The Republican Women's Club of National City, California, do strongly protest the projected grading system which would result in the destruction of initiative and individual ability to think.

Passed by unanimous vote at the July 29th, 1951 meeting of The Republican Women's Club of National City, California, with copy to be placed in the hands of the San Diego County Elementary Board of Education to be read at the meeting of August 15th, 1951.

Renew Gov't Life Insurance

Government life insurance term policies held by veterans and those in service may be renewed at the expiration of any term period for a successive period of five years without a physical examination requirement, according to Gracie Mitchell, Insurance Officer at the Veterans Administration Regional Office, San Diego. This privilege comes as the result of two amendments to the insurance laws signed by the President on August 2.

Public Law 104 grants this right to holders of National Service Life Insurance and Public Law 101 contains a similar provision applicable to U. S. Government Life Insurance.

Formerly, renewal was authorized by the Congress for one additional five-year term period at a time, but such renewal is now permitted indefinitely. This legislation, of course, applies only to those policies for which the term period has not expired.

The premium rate paid for term insurance increases each

NO MORE RUN-DOWN FEELING NOW; SHE THANKS HADACOL

HADACOL Relieves Weak, Run-Down Conditions When Due to Deficiencies of Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron

When a person feels tired all the time, is run-down and lacks energy, life just isn't too pleasant. Mrs. Floyd Smith, P. O. Box 623, Tolleson, Arizona, had been feeling that way. Then she heard about HADACOL—how it had been helping folks who were tired, run-down and suffered from a lack of energy when due to deficiencies of Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron in the system. Mrs. Smith decided to try HADACOL, and now says she intends to always have HADACOL on hand.

Mrs. Floyd Smith

Here is what she writes: "I have been taking HADACOL for about two months. I had been quite run-down, just didn't have any energy at all. We, my husband and I, had heard so much about HADACOL so we decided to give it a trial. My land, in just a short time I could certainly tell a big improvement. I felt so much stronger—was no longer as tired as I had been. HADACOL has certainly helped me. I just can't praise it too highly. I'm still taking HADACOL and intend to always have it on hand."

Is it any wonder that Mrs. Smith is going to continue taking HADACOL? HADACOL makes it possible to actually relieve the REAL CAUSE of that run-down feeling and lack of energy when due to a deficiency of Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron in the system.

AND LISTEN TO THIS! Continued use of this great HADACOL not only gives continuous complete relief but helps keep such distress from returning when caused by such deficiencies. Now that's the kind of product folks have been looking for... the kind to buy and start taking at once. HADACOL's wonderful Vitamins and Minerals come in liquid form and are quickly absorbed and assimilated in the blood, ready to go to work at once. HADACOL is So Effective.

Because HADACOL helps build up the hemoglobin content of your blood (when iron is needed) to carry these precious Vitamins and Minerals to every organ and to every part of your body. You may have tried other Vitamin preparations or other Vitamin and Mineral preparations, so we make you this offer. Try a bottle of HADACOL today if you need Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron. You be the judge. If you do not believe that HADACOL is the best Vitamin and Mineral preparation you have ever taken, we will gladly send you back your money. That's our positive money-back guarantee. So be fair to yourself. Don't go through life suffering from a run-down condition and lack of energy when caused by lack of Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron, when relief may be as close at hand as your nearest drug store.

Refuse Substitutes

There is only one HADACOL. Don't let anyone tell you something else is "just as good." Insist on genuine HADACOL. You risk nothing because HADACOL is sold on a strict money-back guarantee. Sold at all drug counters. Trial size, $1.25, but buy the large family-size, only $3.50. If your dealer does not sell HADACOL, order direct from The LeBlanc Corporation, Lafayette, Louisiana.

Hospital Story

not exceed 80% for the best efficiency.

Where will the hospital be located?

We do not know and are not concerned at this time with that problem. That will be a responsibility of the district's directors if said district is successfully organized.

What about the present La Mesa Community Hospital?

Enlarge and to serve the people as a first class institution. Doctors generally agree that the management of this hospital is very good but that the building physically is very unsuited for the purpose. The present managers are on our Board of Directors and do endorse our proposal wholeheartedly. Today when all the beds are filled and a serious emergency arises it can well mean the life of some patient to go the extra 20 minutes to Mercy. Besides this, the relatives and friends who have to travel such a distance to be with the patients put a needless strain on all the public.

What type of a hospital is proposed?

Best advice tells us that we should plan for a first class general hospital with approximately 60 beds. The cost is estimated at slightly in excess of one million dollars and less than one and one-half million. In every way it will be an institution that will be a distinct credit to this area. The medical profession and the public will be proud of it.

Who is behind this Hospital District movement?

A group of interested citizens who have nothing to gain except the pride of serving the community well and bringing here a long needed institution. No other single cause has ever brought together such an outstanding group of citizens. They are all contributing time or money. There is only one man who is receiving any remuneration. He is our executive secretary who will be on salary only through January 1952 when this district should be organized and well on its way. The various citizens such as directors, etc., as well as some organizations have contributed generously to underwrite the success of the venture. Much money has been contributed by the medical profession as well. After the district is formed the directors even do not receive any pay. Marvin Jackson and Chet Dorman head the finance committee and they will be glad to hear from you.

What about the Navy Hospital?

At this time only casualties from the Korean war are being accepted here. But the area is so far below standard that if all service and retired service personnel did use this facility we would still be exceedingly far below standard.

Will the State or County and Federal governments have a hand in operations?

The answer is an emphatic no. Every hospital is inspected by the State Board of Health and the Bureau of Hospitals to see that certain policies regarding sanitation and safety are met. The Board of Directors are charged with the full responsibility of the building and the operation of the unit. They have complete autonomy. They will establish (with the advice of the medical profession) a certain medical standard. All doctors who wish to practice in the hospital must meet that standard. The standards will be high we know.

Does every hospital operate at a loss?

No. Hospitals are doing better today than ever before because of several factors. One is the rapid expansion of the Blue Cross and Blue Shield health insurance plans which keeps people from delaying needed medical care and provides the doctors with prompt payment of their bills. Another is the compulsory liability insurance law that provides insurance for all auto accidents. Besides these, industry is constantly expanding its health and welfare program. A district hospital in Escondido showed a very substantial surplus the very first year.

Is a Hospital District a legal taxing body?

Yes. It can be compared to a school district, a fire or irrigation district. It can levy taxes but within strict limits. Signing a petition does not bring any additional taxes now. It is possible to completely amortize the capital investment that will be required by the addition of only 20¢ per hundred dollars of assessed valuation, to the present tax rate. However that will come in the future and only by a bond issue that must pass by a two-thirds majority. At that time there will be a full and complete outline of the proposed expenditures and attendant costs.

Why not finance a hospital privately?

We have studied this matter very carefully and the consensus of opinion in the great majority is that it is practically impossible. The campaigns of both the Scripps and the new Tom Sharp Hospitals have been analyzed in detail. The cost of organizing a campaign is in itself often a huge item of expense running as high as 25%. Large industrial donors are not to be had in this residential section. Your Association directors feel that a small tax will spread cost evenly throughout the area and will not be a burden to anyone. It will be borne in direct proportion to the citizen's worth. It is a streamlined plan for efficiency in collections, too.

Can donations or memorials be accepted?

They assuredly can. Individuals or firms or organizations will be encouraged in every possible way to make memorial gifts.

Can some religious group run the hospital better?

If the directors so desire they can lease the building to some religious group. In fact the directors, under the district plan, have tremendous leeway for their own judgment.

Would 4-Lane Highway 101

Acting on a request by the Women's Highway Association, the County Planning Commission, at its regular meeting last Friday, recommended that the Board of Supervisors request the State Highway Commission to four-lane the present three-lane sections of U. S. 101 north of San Diego at the earliest practicable date.

Commenting on this action, Chairman George V. Johnson said, "The Commission believes that four lanes are necessary to handle the large and increasing volume of traffic being carried by this section of U. S. 101 during the several years before completion of the new freeway can be expected, and that four lanes on this road will be necessary regardless of the location of the freeway. It is our thought that four lanes can be provided on a minimum basis at a cost not great enough to delay construction of the new freeway."

In its letter to the Board of Supervisors, the Planning Commission stated that this action in no way changes or detracts from its earlier recommendation that U. S. 101 north of San Diego be developed as a freeway as soon as possible.

VITAMINS IN TOMATOES

The tomato is a natural in reducing diets, according to Delphine Wilson, Home Advisor for the University of California Agricultural Extension Service.

A medium size tomato supplies nearly half the day's supply of Vitamin C, a third of the Vitamin A, but only one percent of the day's calories.

Mrs. Wilson says, too, that tomatoes grown this time of year grown tomatoes Mrs. Wilson in the full sunlight will have says more Vitamin C than the ones grown in greenhouses or during the shorter days of fall and winter.

Tomatoes keep their vitamins better than most foods when they are canned. Since most of the canning is done in midsummer when tomatoes are at the peak of their vitamin value, the canned products will often be as good a source of Vitamin C in the winter time as fresh winter tomatoes.
